

FeBREWary™ Fundraiser for SCOUTS

Complete these five steps to earn your Scouts Fundraising Badge!

1 Raise funds for Cystic Fibrosis Trust and celebrate FeBREWary with your troop

Hold a FeBREWary party at your usual weeknight meeting. Enjoy some hot drinks around the campfire and bring the fun with a quiz or games' night! Why not invite your siblings, parents and guardians to join in and help make a difference for people with cystic fibrosis (CF)?

3 Set a date and a fundraising target

FeBREWary lasts a whole month, so you've got plenty of dates to choose from. Think about how many people you can get to join in and consider the costs for your event. Scouts suggest a £100 minimum fundraising target.

2 Think about why you're fundraising and how to tell people about cystic fibrosis (CF)

Maybe someone in your troop or family has cystic fibrosis and they can tell your troop more about it? Or you could challenge your troop to each find out one fact about CF?

4 Write a report about your fundraising challenge and present to your leader or troop

Talk about all the things you did to make your event happen; how much did you spend? How much did you raise? What are your top three tips to help other people throw their very own FeBREWary fundraiser? If you don't want to write a report, you could give a presentation or make a video instead.

5 Celebrate your new badge with a good cuppa!

You'll also receive a personal thank you from the Cystic Fibrosis Trust as a memento of your amazing achievement.
